Mrs. Sisevich Is Sentenced To Prison Cell

Punishment Follows Auto Deaths of Mother, Baby

Brought into court on a stretcher, Mrs. Gladys Sisevich, 36, of 1316 B street, San Mateo, convicted of two counts of manslaughter and one of drunken driving, Tuesday was sentenced to state's prison to begin indeterminate terms of 1 to 10 years.

Sentence was passed by Superior Judge Franklin Swart as Mrs. Sisevich lay before him on a stretcher pleading that she was innocent and was not driving the car that snuffed out the lives of Mrs. Addaline Lyons, 38, East Palo Alto housewife, and the latter's baby, Nancy, 8 months old, last July 20.

She sobbed throughout the hour's hearing and repeatedly wiped her forehead and face, mumbling protestations at being sentenced for acts of which she claimed her innocence.

Judge Swart declared he did not like the "spectacle" of bringing a woman to court on a stretcher any more than anybody else. He said, however, that he believed that much of her illness was "assumed."

If innocent, he said, she has allowed herself to be convicted by assuming the blame for the accident when first arrested and not changing her story during the preliminary hearing or at any time until she took the witness stand before the jury and said her husband, Nick, was driving the car.

If her story now is true, he said, "the whole case has been a fraud on justice."

The court declared that if her husband was guilty he should arise, plead guilty and take the blame.

Sisevich was not in court at the time, but was outside in the corridor.

Judge Swart fined Mrs. Sisevich $10 on the third count—that of driving while intoxicated.

He granted a 10-day stay of execution of sentence to give her an opportunity to recover sufficiently from her bedridden condition to make the trip to San Quentin. He recommended that she be put in the woman's prison at Tehachapi.

Mrs. Sisevich was taken to the Community Hospital in custody of Sheriff James J. McGrath, after the court denied her release on bail.

HIT-RUNNER SENTENCED TO PRISON

Fred H. Madson, 42, Gilroy stableman, was sentenced to San Quentin prison on Monday on two counts of manslaughter for the deaths of Francisco del Valle, 45, wealthy Mexican rancher, and his daughter, Maria, 17, as the result of a Menlo Park hit-run crash.

Madson pleaded guilty to the two counts on manslaughter after District Attorney Edmund Scott had agreed to dismiss charges of drunken and hit-run driving. He asked probation through Attorney William O'Brien.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lane, Gilroy, his employers, agreed to keep him employed and take care of him if he were placed in their custody.

Attorney O'Brien said that Madson's predicament was the result of an excessive use of liquor and that "this is the crime of which Madson is guilty."

Tanforan's Saturday Program Announced

As the special feature for tomorrow (Saturday) Tanforan in San Bruno will offer the Burlingame Handicap for horses of all ages, and for a purse of $2,000 added. The distance will be a mile and a sixteenth. Some of the best steppers at the track will participate in this handicap.

Entries for the feature include: Sidney Grant, Teralice, Riskulus, Sundot, Zevar, Prince Pest, Chazzan, Chepera, Boardwalker, Bonny Grafton, Bahamas, Rasper, Coalizer, Midshipman, Parawick and Inheritor. These horses already have been nominated, and there may be others before closing time.

The opening of the track under the pari-mutuel system of wagering, recently approved by the electorate, has proven popular with horse racing fans in California. The new totalizing board in the infield makes the odds available at all times for those who desire to play.

COUNTY OFFICIALS HOLD DISCUSSION ON BUDGET

All Departments Said to Be Inside Limit Set By State Board

Uncertainty surrounding the disagreement between the state board of equalization and the county auditor over whether San Mateo county's 1933-34 budget is within the 5 per cent limitation of the Riley-Stewart bill made necessary a conference Thursday by County Manager Walter Kellogg and departments of county government.

It was the first major conference between the manager and the county officers.

Kellogg learned that all departments were keeping well within their budgets, so that if the state board insists that it is correct in its findings that the county budget is over the limit, departments will not be crippled if part of their funds are withheld.

The county manager said the purpose of the meeting was to curtail all unnecessary expenditures so that progress will be made toward savings which will make it possible to further reduce county expenditures next year.

County Auditor Edward Stack is to submit a monthly report to all county officers to keep them informed on the conditions of the various budgets throughout the year.

County Clerk Elmore Hinman reported to Manager Kellogg that he had achieved a saving of about $700 to $800 in installing the duplicate registration affidavit system in his office. Hinman was able to buy some second hand steel cabinets from the University of California which exactly fitted his needs.

Garbage Dump Hearing Is Set

S. F. Proposal to Be Discussed Pro and Con Nov. 15th

Public hearing on the proposal of San Francisco to dump 750 tons of garbage daily on Mills Field tidelands was set today by County Manager Walter T. Kellogg for next Wednesday, November 15, in the Burlingame High School auditorium. The hearing will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Kellogg and Dr. Harold E. Morrison, San Mateo county health officer, will be prepared to make a report on the proposal. Both have inspected the dump at Bayshore and reported the plan appeared to be satisfactory.

The public hearing was set at the request of the board of supervisors to sound out public sentiment. Two protests to the plan were filed with the board last Monday. One, by Walter W. Cribbins, Burlingame advertising man, was signed by 115 residents. The other was presented by H. F. Collier of Burlingame and had 350 signatures.

Clyde Healy, assistant city engineer of San Francisco, favored a hearing so that he could lay San Francisco's plans before the peninsula public. He declared the fill and cover method proposed for Mills Field is the most advanced step for that type of garbage disposal.

The fill would make possible a larger landing area at the airport, which is threatened with the loss of its huge transport business if better runway facilities are not provided.

Instructions Are Issued to Relief Units

General instructions for the more than a score of units participating in the major disaster relief demonstration Saturday night were issued today by Fire Chief Mark E Ryan, chairman.

The disaster call will be sounded soon after 7 o'clock.

At the sound of nine blasts, man power and motor driven equipment of the various units will proceed in an orderly manner (no speeding) to the intersection of Main street and Broadway, and stop there.

At a signal given by the officer in charge, units will proceed to headquarters established on Broadway between Main and Walnut, where they will report to the city manager.

At an officer's signal they will then proceed to a parking place and remain at that point until the entire organization has arrived.

When the next signal is given, they will reverse, pass headquarters again, and disperse at the Main and Broadway intersection.

The public is invited to witness the demonstration, which is sponsored by the Red Cross chapter of Redwood City.

$50,000 Medical Center Plans Filed

Plans for a new medical center to cost in the neighborhood of $50,000 were placed on file today with County Recorder T. C. Rice. The building will be constructed by Dr. Alan Benner of San Mateo and will be located in El Cerrito Park there. Lengfeld & Olund are the contractors.

Victim of Gun Accident Dies

Peter Massolo Fails to Survive Wound of October 29

Peter Massolo, 20, of Millbrae, who was wounded by his best friend October 29 when an old revolver which they were inspecting discharged, died Thursday in Mills Memorial Hospital at San Mateo.

Massolo died of a bullet wound in the abdomen. The bullet lodged near the spine.

The youth had been visiting at the home of Louis Beltramo, also of Millbrae. He stayed for dinner, and later the two amused themselves by inspecting the old revolver.

At the time of the shooting the youth was given only a 50-50 chance of surviving.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Massolo. Services will be held in Wyckoff's chapel in Burlingame on Saturday.

An inquest into the youth's death will be held Tuesday by Coroner J. C. McGovern.

Pigeon Point 'Sub' Base Is Considered

Pigeon Point, on the San Mateo county coast below Pescadero, stands a chance of becoming the submarine base of the Pacific coast, it was reported today.

The navy is looking for a base somewhere along the central coastline of California. Monterey has offered its breakwater-guarded bay, and Salinas proposes Moss Landing as the ideal harbor. Both are actively campaigning for their respective locations.

Selection of the base, however, will in all probability be deferred until a suitable testing ground for submarine experiments can be chosen.

Pigeon Point, according to coast and geodetic surveys, appears to possess all requirements demanded by the navy.

Requirements call for a level sea floor seven by two miles in area, free of rocks or other obstacles, and with a maximum depth of sixty fathoms (360 feet).

These requirements the Pigeon Point location possesses, and according to naval officers, it is the only location suitable for the purpose on the Pacific coast.

Pigeon Point is marked by the government lighthouse. It is six miles south of Pescadero on the Oceanshore highway. The point got its name from the sensational wreck of the clipper ship, "Carrier Pigeon."

The powerful lens of this light, originally in service on the Maine coast, look upon a similar coastline here.

A legend about the light is that it was hidden in the sands of the South Atlantic coast during the Civil war to keep it from the hands of the confederate forces.

Nieri Takes Madson To State's Prison

Fred H. Madson, 42, Gilroy stableman convicted of the deaths of Francisco del Valle, 45, wealthy Mexican rancher, and his daughter, Maria, 17, was taken to San Quentin Wednesday by Undersheriff Lawrence Nieri to begin indeterminate sentences of 1 to 10 years

Madson pleaded guilty before Superior Judge Franklin Swart on Monday after charges of drunken driving and hit-run driving were dismissed.

Ocean Shore Cost Bill Is Cut to $5625

Judge McNutt Reduces $35,664 Request One-Seventh

The $35,664 cost bill filed by the Ocean Shore Railroad Company and the McNee Company against the County of San Mateo and two other counties following the abandonment of the Pedro Point right-of-way on the proposed Ocean Shore highway was slashed to $5,625 today by Superior Judge Maxwell McNutt.

Attorneys' fees of $30,000 were asked, but Judge McNutt reduced the amount to $3875.

Costs of preparing for trial in the sum of $5,664 were asked, but the amount was cut to $1750 by the court.

Judge McNutt made no comment in handing down his decision on the cost bill.

Attorney Henry Heidelberg, San Francisco, representing Joint Highway District No. 9, composed of the counties of San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Cruz, attacked the attorneys fees as "entirely unreasonable and unwarranted" when the bill was filed.

The road district attorney at the time said that he had borne the brunt of the work in preparing opening and closing briefs when the original eminent domain proceedings were filed against the railroad.

He suggested $2500 as a proper fee for the attorneys. Judge McNutt increased the amount to $3875.

Despite the $5625 costs which the counties must now pay under Judge McNutt's order, the district has not secured the right of way.

The proposal to build at Pedro Point was abandoned after the eminent domain decree fixing the cost of the right of way at $117,000 had been granted.

It was this act that made it possible for the railroad and the McNee company to present a cost bill. Otherwise, if the district had accepted the court's verdict in the eminent domain proceedings, no costs would have been assessed against the counties.

Henry Monroe, Hall C. Ross and Herbert Erskine were the attorneys representing the railroad and the McNee company in the litigation.

Public Works Dep't Reports Contribution

Money to Help Finance Emerald Lake Extension

A federal grant of $5000 to help Redwood City build an extension of its water system to improve service in the Emerald Lake territory has been approved.

The United Press reported today from Washington that the grant was part of $6,858,253 allotted to 50 non-federal projects in 20 states by Public Works Administrator Ickes.

City Manager E. A. Rolison expressed his pleasure when informed of the grant, and said work would start as soon as contracts could be prepared. The city manager and City Engineer C. L. Dimmitt prepared the plans, with the approval of the city council, and submitted them to Washington for consideration.

The project includes 6200 feet of 8-inch cast iron main from the city reservoir near the end of Roosevelt avenue to the 550 foot elevation in Emerald Lake, where a million-gallon reservoir is to be constructed.

The total cost of the project is in the neighborhood of $20,000. The government's contribution represents about 30 per cent for labor and material.

The city's share of the cost is to be financed out of the water system's revenues.

111 Sign Protest Against Garbage

Protest of 111 residents against the plan of San Francisco to dump garbage at Mills Field was filed Monday with the board of supervisors by Walter W. Cribbins, Burlingame resident and San Francisco advertising man.

Cribbins reported to the board by letter that he secured the signers because of a fear that the garbage dumps would be unsightly, would produce obnoxious gasses and would breed rats which would make their way through sewers to the homes.

The application of the Scavengers' Protective Union for a permit will come before the board today.

MORRISON REINSTATED AS CO. HEALTH CHIEF BY M'NUTT DECISION

DR. HAROLD E. MORRISON, discharged San Mateo county health officer, Wednesday was fully reinstated by Superior Judge Maxwell McNutt after a three-quarter hour hearing during which the ouster proceedings taken by the board of supervisors October 26 were reviewed by the court.

The health chief, who was ousted at the request of County Manager Walter Kellogg for allegedly ignoring the executive's orders, was overcome with emotion when Judge McNutt made his ruling.

He turned his back to the courtroom and fought to prevent the tears that filled his eyes and streamed down his cheeks.

He was unable to say a word when Attorney Joseph J. Bullock, who successfully had him reinstated, went to shake his hand.

Mrs. Helen Morrison, wife of the doctor, and their oldest boy, Richard, 14, were happy at the outcome and rushed forward to express their congratulations to Attorney Bullock.

Judge McNutt's ruling was based on the failure by County Manager Kellogg to file actual charges of insubordination against Dr. Morrison.

The court held with Attorney Bullock that Dr. Morrison should have been apprised of any charges which Kellogg intended to file. Since no charges were filed, Dr. Morrison could make no defense, Judge McNutt agreed. This was contrary to the charter, which gives the accused the full right to defend himself.

Kellogg's procedure was merely the forwarding of a letter to the board declaring himself "dissatisfied with the conduct of the health office because his orders had been ignored."

Judge McNutt inquired if this letter was followed up by a formal filing of charges, as required by the charter. When informed that no such step had been taken, the court held that the supervisors had acted without jurisdiction.

"San Mateo county could have been saved a great deal of undesirable and unsavory publicity if the supervisors had been properly advised in this matter," Judge McNutt declared.

District Attorney Edmund Scott, who represented the board at the hearing, rose to his feet in defense of himself by declaring that the supervisors had neglected to call upon him for advice.

"I want to take exception to the court's remarks," Scott said. "The board has a legal advisor but frequently it doesn't ask for his advice."

Bullock, in presenting his case for reinstatement, said the actual discharge of Dr. Morrison was voted on the health chief's public denunciation of those who sought his ouster. He said Kellogg "amended" his first so-called "charges" and included Dr. Morrison's public statement as an accusation in itself of insubordination.

Bullock declared that if Dr. Morrison was at that time under suspension as the supervisors aver, he could issue the statement as a private individual and that it could not form the basis of an insubordination charge.

"Not a single witness was sworn nor was any evidence produced to warrant the charges against Dr. Morrison," Bullock argued.

"Whatever the petitioner has done, however inappropriate it may have been, Dr. Morrison was only exercising that prerogative that any man of red blood would have," Bullock said regarding the Morrison public statement.

Judge McNutt granted Bullock a writ of certiorari.

This is described as a writ calling up the records of an inferior court or body in order that the party may have more sure and speedy justice, or that errors and irregularities may be corrected. It is obtained upon complaint of a party that he has not received justice, or cannot have an impartial trial in the inferior court.

CONTESTS MAY RESULT AS SEQUEL TO DEATH OF SON

DISTRIBUTION of a $250,000 estate, the remnant of the Loren and Sarah Satira Coburn holdings, presented attorneys with a legal puzzle today with the death of Wallace Loren Coburn, 80-year-old incompetent, who died of pneumonia in the Mills Memorial Hospital in San Mateo last week.

Many of the beneficiaries named in the Coburn wills have since died and efforts to determine their heirs may lead to a number of contests. There are also of record many assignments of interest in the estate by those who did not choose to wait until the death of Wallace Coburn before collecting their share.

Four charities will claim $10,000 each for a total of $40,000. These charities are San Francisco Protestant Orphanage, Youth's Directory, Hebrew Home for the Aged and Disabled and Old People's Home.

Azro Coburn, Holyoke, Mass., nephew of the Coburns and cousin of Wallace, will get $50,000 from the Sarah Satira Coburn estate.

One-sixth of the remainder will be set aside to be paid to the administrator of the Wallace Coburn estate.

Other bequests, the money to come from the Loren Coburn estate, follow:

One-ninth of five-sixths to Jehiel Coburn, brother of Coburn, who lived at Pescadero until his death; Mrs. Nellie Peasley and Mrs. Mary Lovejoy, both of New Hampshire, sisters of Coburn.

One thirty-ninth of five-sixths to the following:

Azro Buxton, Wooster, Mass., now dead; Augustine Buxton and Gonzalo Buxton; Clara Fulton, Alvarado Coburn, Carl J. Coburn of Vallejo, son of Jehiel Coburn; Jesse J. Coburn, Amy Lyseth, Clara Swift, Ella Wheeler, Mary Ballard, Henry Coburn and Azro Coburn. Most of these relatives are nephews and nieces of the senior Coburns, and reside in New England.

One-twelfth of five-sixths to the following attorneys: C. F. Humphrey, T. C. Judkins, John J. Barrett, the late George Ross and Hall and Lee Ross.

Coburn was the stepson of Mrs. Sarah Satira Coburn, whose brutally beaten body was found in her Pescadero home on the western San Mateo county coast on June 3, 1919.

She had been beaten to death with a wooden stick about two feet long. Coburn, then about 60 and feeble-minded, was in the house with her at the time. Mrs. Margaret L. Harrison, housekeeper and companion to Mrs. Coburn, had left that day for a trip to San Francisco.

Coburn was detained at the time, but neither he nor anyone else was ever brought to trial for the woman's death. The body was discovered by Joseph Quilla, laborer on the Coburn estate, who became suspicious of something unusual when no one responded to his repeated knocks at the door.

Quilla summoned A. J. Sterling, employed by C. H. Widemann, now of Los Angeles, who was long associated as manager of the Coburn interests and who inherited a large share of the Coburn estate many years ago.

Sterling forced his way into the house and discovered the body.

Sheriff Michael Sheehan, now deceased, and District Attorney Franklin Swart, now a superior judge here, went to the scene and detained the feeble-minded son.

The slain woman was 68 years old and was a sister of Coburn's first wife. The first Mrs. Coburn died in Pescadero in 1896.

Once a Millionaire

Coburn's money, estimated at one time in excess of $1,000,000, brought him repeatedly into lawsuits and he was a familiar figure in many court battles here. He was also the center of efforts in later years to have him declared incompetent.

Loren Coburn was born in Berlin, Orange county, Vermont, January 11, 1826. When 10, his home was changed to Massachusetts, where he remained until he started for California in 1851. He shipped from New York on the steamer Falcon, bound for Cuba. He arrived in San Francisco on June 1, 1851. The active years of his life wre spent in the mining regions of California and in the cities of Oakland and San Francisco.

He engaged in the livery business in Oakland where he remained four years. He continued in the same line in San Francisco for another 12 years.

While still in San Francisco, Coburn purchased a huge rancho near Pescadero. He leased the property to the Steele brothers, and took a trip to Vermont.

In 1872 he took up his residence on the ranch, having added to it 10,000 acres on the Salinas river in Monterey county. The famous Pebble Beach is located on this property.

The United States lighthouse at Pigeon Point is also located on what was once Coburn property.

Coburn married Miss Mary Antoinette Upton, a native of Reading, Mass. She died in Pescadero in 1896, leaving the one son, Wallace. Coburn then married Satira Upton.

YOUNG MAN IS DEAD BY OWN HAND

Believed to have been despondent because of unemployment, Arthur W. Dodge, 22, son of a couple born and educated here, shot himself to death on Tuesday in his San Francisco home.

Young Dodge was the son of Arthur M. Dodge and Cecelia Watrous Dodge. Both parents were born here and both were educated in the Sequoia Union High School. They have made their home in San Francisco for the past 23 or 24 years.

The youth left a note, but gave no indication of why he sought death. The theory that he shot himself because of unrequited love, as reported by one San Francisco newspaper, was discounted by local acquaintances of the Dodges.

Arthur V. Swift, 520 Warren street, associated with the Standard Printing Company here, whose daughter, Audrey, is reported to have been the one over whom Dodge took his life, said the young couple were not engaged and that there was no romance between them.

Swift said that the two knew each other because the Swift and Dodge families have been acquaintances of long standing. He said he talked with the youth on the telephone Monday night and invited him down for dinner Thursday.

"I'll be there," the youth declared.

Young Dodge appeared cheerful Monday night and in talking with Miss Swift on the telephone parted without giving a hint of the tragedy that was to come some hours later.

Parents of the boy reported to the Swifts by telephone after the tragedy that young Dodge had gone out to a bridge party that night and came home in apparently a cheerful mood.

He went to his room and closed the door—something that he usually did not do. Shortly afterward the parents heard the shot. The youth expired in 10 minutes.

A not found in his room read:

"Dear Ma and Pa: I love Rae. Goodby. Son."

The "Rae" referred to is Miss Swift.

Young Dodge had been working for an oil company, but some weeks ago was laid off. He had hoped to complete a musical education in Europe, and may have despaired over a forced change in plans.

La Honda Road Improvement May Be Halted

Money Is Needed for Bottleneck Job At Daly City

Failure by the board of supervisors to raise funds for the continuance of the Daly City bottleneck widening and a last minute desire by the county to keep its faith with the State of California and City and County of San Francisco on the project, threatened late Monday to halt work on the La Honda road reconstruction project.

Col. John H. Skeggs, district engineer of the state highway commission, and Joseph J. Phillips, San Francisco right of way agent, appealed to the local board for funds.

Chairman C. V. Thompson said he was a "great believer" in keeping pledges and assured Skeggs and Phillips that the $12,500 requested would be found.

When the suggestion that the funds might come from the La Honda project was voiced, Supervisor John Poole, Redwood City, who has long fought for the road, raised a protest. So did Edwin Seares, developer of a realty subdivision at La Honda.

Chairman Thompson said that Seares had a "selfish interest" in getting the road built. Sears replied that every project is the result of somebody's concern.

Supervisor Albert Witt, Colma, in whose district the other project is located, declared that the road program wasn't laid out by the board anyhow, but by the engineer.

Engineer James S. James replied that he waited three months for the board to do the job and then took it upon himself.

James suggested that the road work in Memorial Park, a project to cost about the same as La Honda, might be put over until next spring. This brought a protest from Supervisor Manuel Francis, in whose district the park is situated.

San Francisco's plea for the right to dispose of its garbage by dumping it at Mills Field was heard by the board, but action was delayed for two weeks.

Protests were filed by Walter W. Cribbins, who presented a petition signed by 111 residents, and from H. F. Collier, who had 350 signatures. Mrs. Ella Chase of San Bruno also spoke against it.

Assistant City Engineer Clyde Healy of San Francisco, declaring that San Francisco would not be willing to jeopardize a million dollar investment in Mills Field if the garbage were objectionable, asked the right to present his case before the peninsula public.

This plan met with favor, and County Manager Walter Kellogg was instructed to call the public meeting for the near future. It will probably be held in Burlingame.

Louis Tournahu of San Bruno was granted a permit to dispose of that city's garbage on the Arata place near Lawndale.

Engineer James was instructed to prepare plans for the improvement of the Sharp's Park road from the Skyline boulevard to the San Francisco golf course, San Francisco to pay for its section within the park. This request came from Supervisor Witt and was agreed to by Engineer Healy of San Francisco.

James was also advised to proceed with the work of improving Valparaiso avenue on the outskirts of Menlo Park if it is a county road, under a request from Supervisor Poole.

Plans for alterations to be made in the district attorney and law library offices were approved by the board.

Plans for the establishment of a community shelter at San Mateo were further debated.

Thomas E. Sloan Dies at Templeton

Thomas E. Sloan, who formerly drove the stage for Walter Knight from Redwood City to Pescadero, died suddenly at his home in Templeton, California, on November 1.

Sloan was widely known in this community, having spent the greater portion of his life here. When modern conveniences took the place of the state coach, Sloan became an employe of the Frank Tanning Company. Some years ago he went south and very little has been heard of him.

The thousands that rode with him from here to the coast, many of them being from San Francisco, will learn of his demise with regret. He was popular with his passengers and a very careful driver.

The deceased is survived by his wife, formerly Lizzie Hollinsead of Pescadero.

The Times-Gazette was the only paper in San Mateo county that opposed the county charter during the campaign for it last year. The Times-Gazette pointed out that it was not workable and would prove a failure.

After a partial trial of the new charter it is seen that these predictions are correct and that the new law is a failure in many respects. It is quite possible that a recall of the charter will be attempted by its opponents. The recall no doubt would be successful.

The San Mateo Times-Leader was an ardent supporter of the charter and championed it in every issue of that well-known journal. However it has a change of heart as will be seen by the following editorial appearing recently:

PROGRESS?

Last year San Mateo county had high hopes of new efficiency, economy and order in county governmental affairs when the voters by two-to-one vote adopted the charter. Today we see the county manager under fire in the quo-warranto removal suit filed by Attorney John E. Manders. We find the county director of health and welfare embattled in his office, an attorney at hand to protect his job in the face of a supervisorial ouster. Is this what the people desired? Is that what the new charter produces? If so, we made a grevious error in adopting it in the first place, for no improvement has resulted.

However we are inclined to believe that it is not so much the charter, but the administration of the charter which has brought us our troubles. San Mateo county voters want efficiency, and they're going to have it. We firmly believe that the provision which requires election of the supervisors at large may be the ultimate salvation of not only the charter, but of the county's independence as well.

Meantime we must look at the present squabbling as efforts to discredit the charter, and perhaps to force San Mateo county into a quick marriage with San Francisco.

Must Not Flout Laws

The consent of but three states was required to repeal the eighteenth amendment. This was given in the elections held Tuesday. It is well. Repeal was a foregone conclusion. The quicker it came the better, for the present situation was intolerable, since we had neither prohibition nor regulation.

It must not be forgotten prohibition is still potentially formidable, for twenty-six states are under dry laws which will remain in effect unless repealed by their own action. What the future holds nobody knows. If wet laws designed to curb the abuses of drink are openly flouted not only by private citizens but by civil authorities, as they were this week in San Francisco and Los Angeles, the twenty-six states are likely to remain dry and have others join with them.

Press Methods Attacked

The "insolent attitude" of the metropolitan press, its "ribald, sensational reports of the Lamson case," and its "reckless disregard for the sancity of the people's property" during the trial was scored in the Santa Clara county grand jury report. Which, by the way, could never have happened were our criminal trials conducted as are those of Canada. The grand jury pointed out that in thus making a "show" of a serious murder case a fair and impartial trial became almost impossible and the dignity of the court suffered.

Watching the Results

The political upheaval in San Francisco is giving the wise political heads something to ponder over. Many of the men who have served term after term on the board of supervisors have been retired and the new ones selected will be of the sort who will stir up plenty of trouble, for undoubtedly each and every one of them had some pet aversion that influenced them to seek the office. It will be interesting from this safe distance to watch political developments up there for the next few months.

James O'Keefe Jr. Passes State Bar Quiz; Others Also

James T. O'Keefe Jr., son of James T. O'Keefe, the well known attorney, and Mrs. O'Keefe, successfully passed the state bar examination held last August and the result of which was announced last Monday. Mr. O'Keefe holds two degrees from Santa Clara College, PhB and LLB. These were earned after 11 years of constant study. The many friends of the young attorney are congratulating him upon his success. The examination was the most rigid ever given by the bar of the state. Of the 348 taking the examination only 30 per cent crossed the hurdles. There were 13 prospective barristers tried from Santa Clara and only two succeeded, O'Keefe and Carroll Kirby, a nephew of the late Mrs. J. H. O'Keefe.

Mr. O'Keefe will at once join his father in the practice of his profession, and the firm will be known as O'Keefe and O'Keefe. The young man has the best wishes of his numerous friends in the practice of his chosen life work.

Senator Samuel M. Shortridge and his charming wife of Menlo Park are very proud of their son, John G. Shortridge, who was among the few who secured the proper percentage in the state bar examination held last August. Shortridge is a graduate of Stanford and the Hasting College of Law in San Francisco. Like his distinguished father he has a penchant for the law, likes the profession, which is to be his life work. While attending Hastings young Shortridge was connected with the law offices of Garrett McEnerney, leader of the California bar, and there learned procedure which will be a benefit when he begins practice with his father in San Francisco. The law firm will consist of Senator Shortridge and his two sons, Samuel Jr. and John G. Shortridge.

Alpheus McGovern, son of Dr. J. C. McGovern, coroner and public administrator, is another young man of the county who has become a disciple of Blackstone, having succeeded in passing the state bar examination after long years of study at the state university. McGovern possesses a splendid legal mind and is a student and a hard worker. His many friends on the peninsula are confident he will be highly successful in his chosen profession.

Menlo Park

Catherine Aylward has secured a position as nurse with the United Air Line flying between San Francisco and Seattle. The young lady has made several trips north and enjoys the work. Her salary is greater than that given to hospital nurses. Miss Aylward graduated from St. Joseph's Hospital some years ago.

Victor Depont left during the week for New Orleans, his boyhood home, to visit sisters and brothers whom he has not seen in 30 years. He will be gone for two weeks.

Menlo Park is very proud of the achievements of Gordon Partee in the great game last Saturday between St. Mary's and Fordham. Partee played the very best game of his life. He is a Menlo Park boy who has brought honor to his home town.

Carroll Kirby, who was born and raised in Menlo Park and now a resident of San Jose, was one of the two from Santa Clara University that successfully passed the state bar examination. Mr. Kirby was a nephew of the late Mrs. J. H. O'Keefe. A class of 13 from the university took the examination and only two succeeded, Kirby and James T. O'Keefe Jr.

Tuesday at San Jose a marriage license was applied for by Jack James Parsons and Miss Dorothy Britton Hardy, both of Menlo Park. The pretty bride to be is a daughter of Doctor Hardy of this city. Mr. Parsons spent his boyhood here and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Parsons of Stanford Park. Young Parsons is a Stanford man. The wedding is scheduled for Saturday.

For the benefit of the unemployment relief work carried on by the Menlo Park Fire Department, firemen will sponsor a card party in the Central school auditorium this evening.

Honors for high scores at the P.-T. A. card party which was given at the home of Mrs. John Bracesco on Santa Cruz avenue Wednesday were awarded to Miss Ruth Douglas, Mrs. J. W. Morey and Mrs. J. Silva.

Don't forget the chamber of commerce turkey dinner served by ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary in Central school auditorium Monday, November 13, at 6:30 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Olerichs Martin, who are moving back to San Francisco this week, were guests at a buffet supper given in their honor by Mr. and Mrs. Balfour Bouden Saturday night in their Atherton home.

The Women's Guild of Trinity Episcopal Church will conduct a rummage, cake and home-cooked food sale Saturday, November 18, in a vacant store on Santa Cruz avenue. Plans for the sale were discussed at a meeting of the guild which was held at the home of Mrs. Henry Martins Monday afternoon and will be further discussed at the home of Mrs. Thomas Estey in Atherton Monday afternoon.

Miss Pansy J. Abbott will speak at the regular meeting of the P.-T. A. in Central school auditorium Friday afternoon at 2:30.

Mrs. F. Derry, Mrs. J. Bracesco, and Mrs. J. W. Morey will be hostesses at the St. Joseph's Mothers' Club card party Wednesday afternoon, November 15.

Tobins Sued As Sequel to Fatal Auto Accident

Mrs. Vittoria Fortina, San Francisco widow residing at 127 Ward street, today filed suit for $25,400 damages against Miss Consuela ("Nini") Tobin, peninsula debutante, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Tobin, as the result of the death in an automobile accident of Miss Josephine Fortina, 19, the plaintiff's daughter.

Miss Tobin was returning from San Francisco at the time of the mishap. Her limousine, driven by Robert Davidson, collided with a smaller car driven by Arcy Sellers, Fort Scott soldier. Miss Fortina was riding with Sellers. She was thrown from the car and instantly killed.

Davidson, the Tobin chauffeur, is named as a defendant.

The accident occurred on the Bayshore highway at Brisbane, October 31.

Deputy District Attorney Harold Anderson of District Attorney Edmund Scott's office reports that so far no criminal negligence was shown by either driver. An inquest is being held today.

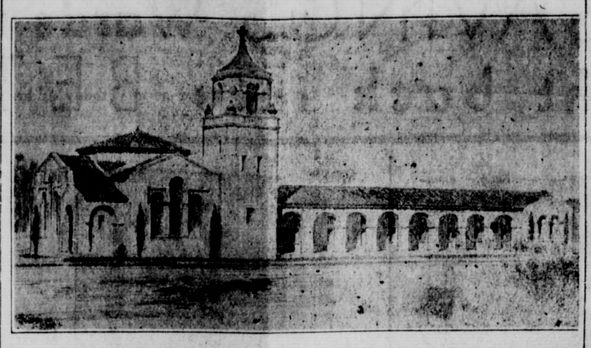
SAN MATEO, Nov. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hastings Jr. are reported to be living apart. Hastings, a member of a socially prominent San Francisco family, has taken quarters at the Fairmont Hotel.

His wife, the former Lillian Huie, continued to reside in the family home here. Their marriage in 1928 was a social event.

CHURCH ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY



The eighth anniversary of the dedication of the First Methodist Church edifice on Broadway at Brewster avenue will be observed with special services Sunday. Speakers will be Dr. Tully C. Knoles, president of the College of the Pacific, and Dr. H. H. Frost, district superintendent.

Church Record Traced to '57 On Old Circuit

Sunday commemorates the eighth anniversary of the dedication of the present building of the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

Dr. Tully C. Knoles, president of the College of Pacific, will be the speaker at the morning services, and Dr. H. H. Frost, district superintendent of the San Francisco conference, will speak at the evening service.

The earliest record of the work by the Methodist church dates back to the year of 1857. For 25 years the early church was a circuit charge served by pastors from Mayfield and San Mateo. In 1882 Redwood City became a separate charge under the direction of the Rev. Seneca Jones.

Since his pastorate the following ministers have served in the Methodist church of Redwood City: '84-'85, J. S. Fisher; '86-'88, Frank M. Callum; '89-'90, J. B. Rutter; '90, M. V. Donaldson; '91-'93, J. R. Watson; '94-'96, O. M. Hester; '97, E. B. Winning; '98, O. M. Hester; '99-'01, J. J. Martin; '01-'04, A. S. Gibbons; '04-'05, W. Kent; '05-'07, Theodore Taylor; '07-'08, J. McClaskey; '08, John Telfer; '09-'10, Thomas Leak; '10-'11, J. E. Young; '11, W. G. Trudgen; '11-'12, Alonzo Brown; '13-'16, Mahlon B. Young; '17, George A. Brice; '18, Oscar Smith; '18-'21, S. C. Thomas; '22, C. L. Peck; '23-'25, Harry Owen; '25-'26, A. H. Clark; '27-'29, Charles Winning; '30-'32, Jesse Rudkin; '32, Amon Cottingham.

Members and friends will have a joyous occasion in offering congratulations to three active members of long duration in the church. Mrs. Emily Winter Vasques joined the Redwood City Methodist church September 25, 1882. Fifty-one years still finds Mrs. Vasques active in Missionary Society, Ladies' Aid, Sunday school, and church service. Mrs. Minnie Rockwell joined the church May 19, 1893, and Mrs. Ella Leary soon followed by joining July 9, 1893. With 40 years of devotion and service to their church, each Sunday finds them occupying a pew in the church service and giving of their time to the organizations of the church.

SEQUOIA TEACHERS, PARENTS TO MEET

To give parents of Sequoia Union High School pupils an opportunity to meet their children's teachers early in the school year, Sequoia is sponsoring a program in the school auditorium to be followed by an informal gathering in the main building next Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Music and talks by student and faculty speakers will be included in the evening's program. Because this is American Education Week such a meeting of parents and teachers at this time was felt to be particularly appropriate.

After the program patrons and friends of the school are invited to the library and study halls of the main building, where they will be able to meet the Sequoia teachers and administrative officers.

Special invitations are being sent to all parents this week. The public is invited, and school authorities hope to have a large attendance at both the program and the "at home" to follow.

J. Edwin Spence heads the faculty committee in charge of arrangements.

The tribe has agreed to go into a contest with the Iroquois Friendly Indians to see which can get 100 per cent of its membership first to complete the requirements for wearing the Friendly Indian button.

Roy A. Hohberger, local secretary, reported on the standing of the tribe in the football meet which was held at Stanford Saturday.

Commerce Chambers In Meeting Held At Burlingame

Initial steps toward the formation of a committee to work toward the creation of improved and faster transportation facilities for the San Francisco peninsula were taken last week by representatives of peninsula chambers of commerce at a dinner meeting in Burlingame sponsored by the Burlingame Chamber of Commerce.

The present move, the successor of previous attempts to secure better rail service from San Francisco down the peninsula, is being started because of the crisis predicted for peninsula towns upon the completion of the two bridges connecting San Francisco to the East Bay and Marin districts.

Speakers at the meeting, headed by Congressman John J. McGrath of San Mateo, member for this district, all emphasized that peninsulans cannot allow themselves to be outdistanced because of the new bridges, which are now under construction. "If we don't get some fast transportation here, we will be holding the tail of the dog," said McGrath, who pledged his own support and efforts to secure a real transportation program. The congressman called transportation on the peninsula "a gigantic joke" as compared with the facilities in New York and other eastern cities.

Bridges Competitors

McGrath and others pointed out that the peninsula must meet its transportation crisis soon because the bay bridges will be completed in three or four years.

Although no formal vote was taken, chamber of commerce representatives at the meeting agreed that each chamber should pick a key man to assist in forming a nucleus for a peninsula transportation committee to study the problem and formulate a possible program. It was the concensus that such a committee should work in the "friendliest" manner with existing railway companies serving the peninsula.

Electrification was asserted by Winfield Scott of Atherton to be the only means of providing fast service. "Transportation will be the making or breaking of San Mateo county," he said. "The competition from Oakland has got to be met, and we can't meet it with the steam locomotive."

R. F. C. Loans Discussed

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was declared by Scott to be the only possible source of funds for such a program. He pointed out that the Pennsylvania railroad got such funds to electrify portions of its lines. Scott also asserted that an uptown terminus is required. "You have got to get up to Market street," he said. "You can't drop people at Third and Townsend streets." He referred to the possibility of building an elevated line up Seventh street in San Francisco.

"Something has got to be done if San Mateo county is to keep pace as the second fastest growing county in the state," declared Thomas L. Hickey of South San Francisco, former county supervisor, who recalled that the peninsula had lost a 100,000 residents after the San Francisco earthquake of 1906 because of inadequate transportation.

The possibility of shifting all freight traffic to the projected Western Pacific line and the difficulty of securing fast service on the existing Southern Pacific line because of the numerous towns and street crossings were also referred to at the meeting.

George Hanson, district passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, asserted that his company has been and is studying transportation facilities for the peninsula.

Louise Sutton Dead; Funeral On Tuesday

Mrs. Louise Rebecca Sutton died Sunday at her home at 1341 Jefferson avenue after a short illness. She was the wife of Charles Joseph Sutton, who has been a landscape gardener on the peninsula for about 40 years.

Mrs. Sutton, a native of London, England, was 64 years of age. The funeral was held from the chapel of the James Crowe Co. (Parmelee & Phillips), Tuesday at 2 o'clock. Interment was at Alta Mesa Memorial Park. The Rev. Edwin Castledine of St. Peter's Episcopal Church afficiated.

Kellogg Demurs To Complaint of Burlingame Man

County Manager Kellogg today demurred to the amended complaint of E. H. Forestier, Burlingame taxpayer, who alleges that Kellogg is holding the chief executive's post illegally. Kellogg's attorneys, J. W. Coleberd and Morgan Doyle, today gave notice that they will go to court Monday and ask to have part of the complaint stricken from the records.

Kellogg's demurrer declares that the complaint does not state sufficient facts to constitute an action. Superior Judge Maxwell McNutt will hear the demurrer.

Red Cross Aid Given Victims of 120 Disasters

American Red Cross units were called upon to give relief to victims of 120 disasters during the year, according to reports received by Mrs. Z. T. Thorning, chairman of the local chapter of the Red Cross. Expenditures for these relief projects totaled $1,777,000.

Three of the major disasters were in the Pacific area and included the Southern California earthquake last March, and floods at Kelso, Wash., and Bonners Ferry, Ida.

Ninety-six times during the year some part of the United States was visited by tornado, flood, fire, earthquake or other form of disaster. Twenty-one times the scene of calamity was in the insular possessions and three times in foreign lands.

Earth tremors in Southern California destroyed or damaged 20,000 buildings; killed 95 persons; injured 4,911 persons, making necessary a hospitalization and rehabilitation program which created the need for a relief fund of $410,000 and resulted in the giving of help to 10,329 disaster sufferers.

An analysis of the types of disasters shows 44 tornadoes, 24 floods, six fires, four hail storms, four wind and hail storms, three explosions, one cloudburst, one cyclone, one drought, one earthquake, one forest fire, one hurricane, one mine explosion, one shipwreck, one snow blockage, one storm and one typhoid fever epidemic. Relief was given in 217 counties.

Librarians Hear Talk On Books For Children

A meeting of the custodians connected with the San Mateo County Library, and the public library affiliated with it, met last Saturday morning at the court house. The subject under discussion was children's books. Many of the fall's late juvenile publications, as well as old favorites in finely illustrated editions were on display. Miss Wilhelmina Harper, librarian of the Redwood City Public Library and a national authority on children's literature, gave a talk on the value of setting high standards for children's books. Children's Book Week plans were suggested since this national holiday will be celebrated from November 12 to November 18 this year.

Outside representatives came from Atherton, Belmont, Daly City, Hillsborough, Las Lomitas, Lomita Park, Menlo, Millbrae, Ravenswood, San Carlos, South San Francisco and Woodside.
